

Whistleblowing regarding company ethics

The company provides channels for whistleblowing about non-compliance with the Stanley Group's business ethics. To ensure Stanley group members (directors, employee and temporary employee) will be aware of and follow the ethics of the Stanley Group and comply with the law which we must maintain a good and fair management system by complying with the requirements of the group which is the basic principle.

Whistleblowing principles

- About violating the Code of Ethics of the Stanley Group
- The Whistleblowers will not be retaliated, revenged or do not receive any other negative action from the company that from informed and must be based on honesty and integrity which not for personal benefit or personal wrath.